Overall Description

A short paragraph describing the site

This site is the website for the professional acting career of Craig Holcomb Jr. The site contains videos, pictures, a biography, and a list of his past and current roles for viewers to get a good sense of his overall career as a professional performer. The site also contains a contact form for those interested in getting in touch with Craig, whether it be as a fan, agent, or potential client or talent scout. The site also has an up-to-date resume for Craig for potential job or role offers. This site is intended to actually be published later this year, after some further tweaking and client input.
